

I am writing on behalf of my special needs daughter. She has a rare genetic mutation called DDX3X Syndrome, global developmental delay, Autism and other issues as well. Due to her genetics, she is considered high risk for Covid.

Thanks to the ability of having therapy appointments via Tellhealth, she has been making steady progress and has not regressed.

It would be absolutely terrible to lose coverage on something that has helped her so much during these unprecedented times.

I really hope you highly consider continuing coverage for my daughter's sake and all the special needs children that are benefiting from this service during this pandemic.

Thank you for your time.

Sent from my iPhone